

INTERPROFESSIONAL JOURNAL OF HEALTH SCIENCES

Interprof. J. Health Sci. Vol.24, Issue 1, January- June 2026

Editorial Note

Scientific research is a dynamic and evolving endeavor driven by collaboration, critical inquiry, and the open exchange of knowledge. While rigorous methodological standards are essential for generating reliable findings, the effective dissemination of research is equally important for advancing science. In today's interconnected research environment, scientific progress depends on the broad and equitable sharing of knowledge beyond institutional, regional, and disciplinary boundaries. This responsibility is particularly important for publicly funded research, whose benefits should be accessible to society as a whole.

The Interprofessional Journal of Health Sciences (Interprof. J. Health Sci.) is committed to advancing this principle through open-access publishing. By publishing exclusively in English, the primary language of international scientific communication, the journal promotes the global accessibility and dissemination of scholarly work. To accommodate the growing diversity of scientific outputs, the journal welcomes a wide range of manuscript types, including original research articles, reviews, case reports, short communications, and editorial correspondence.

The journal aims to disseminate high-quality scholarship across health sciences, biomedical research, technological innovation, and socio-medical studies. Each issue features interdisciplinary contributions that provide valuable insights for researchers, educators, healthcare professionals, and policymakers. As a member of the global scientific community, Interprof. J. Health Sci. recognizes that major scientific advances are often achieved through the cumulative impact of incremental discoveries.

To support this mission, the journal provides an accessible and reliable platform for researchers from Thailand and around the world. Manuscript submissions are managed through a streamlined online system (<https://li05.tci-thaijo.org/index.php/IJHS>) designed to ensure efficiency and ease of use. The Editorial Board sincerely thanks all authors who contributed to this volume and expresses its deep appreciation to the peer reviewers whose expertise and constructive evaluations help maintain the journal's academic rigor and publication quality. We also welcome feedback from our readers as we continue to enhance the journal's quality, expand its reach, and strengthen its international impact.